Tortworth Court Four Pillars Hotel

A sense of something special

With us, you're at home

There is an ancestral estate in the South Gloucestershire countryside with a history as interesting as the beautiful landscape that surrounds it. It is a place where Lords, Knights and Dukes all played their part in weaving a rich, historical fabric. Today it is where Victorian splendour is interlaced with contemporary touches to make a lasting impression. Welcome to Tortworth Court Four Pillars Hotel.

Situated within close proximity to Bristol and only a few miles from the picturesque Cotswolds town of Wotton-under-Edge, this restored Grade II listed Victorian mansion is a secret waiting to be unravelled. Nestled within 30 acres of private parkland, its distinctive charm is as quintessentially English as it is extraordinary.

The dining experience is for those who appreciate all things sumptuous. The elegance of Moreton's Restaurant complements the airy feel of the Orangery Restaurant. Seasonal menus boasting fresh, local produce celebrate modern British cuisine at its very best.

Take a stroll through the carefully maintained parkland which is the setting for one of Britain's finest Arboretums with some 300 rare and protected trees. Or why not pamper and indulge yourself with our invigorating spa and leisure facilities?

Regardless of the occasion, whether for business, a short break, wedding or function, you'll experience not just a hotel, but Tortworth Court Four Pillars Hotel.

A sense of comfort

Restaurants and Bars

Our emphasis is on creating a renowned dining experience at Tortworth Court Four Pillars Hotel. From light meals to fine dining, our two restaurants offer refined cuisine set in the original rooms of this imposing Victorian estate, each with its own distinctive character:

Moreton's Restaurant

Following its sympathetic restoration, the former library still boasts its original features including ornate archways, extensive oak panelling and a magnificent fireplace. Soak up stunning views across the gardens over a freshly prepared breakfast or an evening meal with a glass of one of our finest wines.

To book a table at Morton's Restaurant call 01454 263 000.

Orangery Restaurant

Originally built in 1899 as a grand conservatory to house its exotic shrubs and plants, the Orangery Restaurant carries a light and airy feel courtesy of its beautifully restored ornate glass panels. With many of the menu's local ingredients sourced from the Tortworth estate, our seasonal menus embody the best in modern British cuisine. Why not end a perfect evening in our private bar and al fresco terrace?

To book a table at the Orangery Restaurant call 01454 263 000.

The Atrium Bar

Located at the heart of the hotel is our sixty-foot high Atrium Bar. The glass roof lends airiness to the venue by day, ideal for a spot of afternoon tea or lunch, or even as a meeting place. By night, creative lighting adds to the mood, yours to enjoy over a pre-dinner drink or after-dinner aperitif.

Brunel's Bar

Brunel's Bar and Lounge is one way to enjoy the beautiful period features and ornate ceiling in comfortable surroundings. Choose from a wide selection of beverages and light meals.
